SENATE BILL NO. 87-COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY

PREFILED JANUARY 7, 2011

Referred to Committee on Judiciary

SUMMARY—Enacts the Uniform Collateral Consequences of Conviction Act. (BDR 14-58)

FISCAL NOTE: Effect on Local Government: May have Fiscal Impact. Effect on the State: Yes.

EXPLANATION - Matter in bolded italics is new; matter between brackets [omitted material] is material to be omitted.

AN ACT relating to criminal procedure; enacting the Uniform Collateral Consequences of Conviction Act; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel's Digest:

This bill enacts the Uniform Collateral Consequences of Conviction Act. Sections 4, 5 and 8 of this bill define a collateral consequence of conviction as: (1) a legal disability that occurs by operation of law because of a conviction but is not part of the sentence for the crime; or (2) a disadvantage or disability that an administrative agency, civil court or other state actor other than a sentencing court is authorized, but not required, to impose based on a conviction.

Section 13 of this bill requires the Attorney General to prepare and publish a collection of the provisions of existing law which impose or authorize a collateral consequence of conviction and any provisions of existing law allowing relief from those collateral consequences. Under section 23 of this bill, the first such collection must be prepared on or before January 1, 2012, and under section 13, the Attorney General must update the collection not later than 120 days after each regular legislative session. Section 13 also requires the collection to be made available on the Internet not later than 10 days after it is created or updated.

Sections 14 and 15 of this bill require notice of collateral consequences of conviction to be provided to a defendant during a criminal case. Section 14 requires the court to provide notice of collateral consequences at the time a person receives formal notice of criminal charges against him or her. Section 15 requires certain information concerning these collateral consequences to be provided at sentencing and before release from incarceration.

Section 16 of this bill allows a collateral consequence that is a legal disability occurring by operation of law as a result of a conviction to be imposed only by statute, ordinance or formally adopted regulation. Section 17 of this bill requires governmental decision makers to consider certain information when deciding whether to impose a legal disadvantage or disability that the decision maker is authorized, but not required, to impose based on a conviction.

Section 18 of this bill defines the judgments that constitute convictions for the purposes of imposing collateral consequences. Section 18 further prescribes the manner in which out-of-state convictions and juvenile adjudications will be used to impose collateral consequences. Section 18 also excludes convictions which have been overturned or pardoned or which did not result in a final conviction because of diversion or deferred adjudication. Under section 18, if another state has granted certain types of relief from a conviction based on rehabilitation or the passage of time, that relief has the same effect in this State as in the other state, except that the relief does not remove the requirements for sex offender registration or the prohibition against certain convicted persons being employed as a peace officer.

Section 19 of this bill allows the sentencing court to provide at the time of sentencing relief from collateral consequences of conviction related to employment, education, housing, public benefits or occupational licensing. Under section 19, such relief lifts the automatic bar of a collateral consequence and leaves an agency free to consider on a case-by-case basis whether it is appropriate to deny the opportunity to an individual.

Section 12 of this bill provides that neither the provisions of this bill nor noncompliance with them are a basis for invalidating a plea or conviction, making a claim of ineffective assistance of counsel or suing anyone for money damages.

NOTICE OF ADDITIONAL LEGAL CONSEQUENCES

If you plead guilty or are convicted of an offense, you may suffer additional legal consequences beyond jail or prison, probation, periods of parole and fines. These consequences may include:

- (a) Being unable to get or keep some licenses, permits or jobs;
- (b) Being unable to get or keep benefits such as public housing or education;
- (c) Receiving a harsher sentence if you are convicted of another offense in the future;

(d) Having the government take your property; and

(e) Being unable to vote or possess a firearm.

If you are not a United States citizen, a guilty plea or conviction may also result in your deportation, removal, exclusion from admission to the United States or denial of citizenship.

The law may provide ways to obtain some relief from these consequences.

Further information about the consequences of conviction is available on the Internet at (Internet address of the collection of laws published under subsections 3 and 4 of section 13 of this act).

- 2. Before a court accepts a plea of guilty, guilty but mentally ill or nolo contendere from an individual, the court shall confirm that the individual received and understands the notice required by subsection 1 and has had an opportunity to discuss the notice with counsel.
- Sec. 15. 1. An individual convicted of an offense must be given notice as provided in subsections 2 and 3:
- (a) That collateral consequences may apply because of the conviction;
- (b) Of the Internet address of the collection of laws published under subsections 3 and 4 of section 13 of this act;
- (c) That there may be ways to obtain relief from collateral consequences;
- (d) Of contact information for government or nonprofit agencies, groups or organizations, if any, offering assistance to individuals seeking relief from collateral consequences; and
- (e) Of when an individual convicted of an offense may vote under the law of this State.
- 2. The court shall provide the notice in subsection 1 as a part of sentencing.
- 3. If an individual is sentenced to imprisonment or other incarceration, the officer or agency releasing the individual must provide the notice in subsection 1 not more than 30 and, if practicable, at least 10 days before release.
- Sec. 16. 1. A collateral sanction may be imposed only by statute or ordinance, or by a regulation authorized by law and adopted in accordance with chapter 233B of NRS.
- 2. A law creating a collateral consequence that is ambiguous as to whether it imposes a collateral sanction or authorizes a disqualification must be construed as authorizing a disqualification.

Sec. 17. In deciding whether to impose a disqualification, a decision maker shall undertake an individualized assessment to determine whether the benefit or opportunity at issue should be denied the individual. In making that decision, the decision maker may consider, if substantially related to the benefit or opportunity at issue, the particular facts and circumstances involved in the offense and the essential elements of the offense. A conviction itself may not be considered except as having established the elements of the offense. The decision maker shall also consider other relevant information, including, without limitation, the effect on third parties of granting the benefit or opportunity and whether the individual has been granted relief, such as an order of limited relief or a certificate of restoration of rights.

Sec. 18. 1. For the purposes of authorizing or imposing a collateral consequence in this State, a conviction of an offense in a court of another state or the United States is deemed a conviction of the offense in this State with the same elements. If there is no offense in this State with the same elements, the conviction is deemed a conviction of the most serious offense in this State which is established by the elements of the offense. A misdemeanor in the jurisdiction of conviction may not be deemed a felony in this State, and an offense lesser than a misdemeanor in the jurisdiction of conviction may not be deemed a conviction of a felony, gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor in this State.

2. For the purposes of authorizing or imposing a collateral consequence in this State, a juvenile adjudication in another state or the United States may not be deemed a conviction of a felony, gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor in this State but may be deemed a juvenile adjudication for the delinquent act in this State with the same elements. If there is no delinquent act in this State with the same elements, the juvenile adjudication is deemed an adjudication of the most serious delinquent act in this State which is established by the elements of the offense.

3. A conviction that is reversed, overturned or otherwise vacated by a court of competent jurisdiction of this State, another state or the United States on grounds other than rehabilitation or good behavior may not serve as the basis for authorizing or imposing a collateral consequence in this State.

4. A pardon issued by another state or the United States has the same effect for the purposes of authorizing, imposing and relieving a collateral consequence in this State as it has in the issuing jurisdiction.

5. A conviction which has been relieved by expungement, sealing, annulment, set-aside or vacation by a court of competent jurisdiction of another state or the United States on grounds of rehabilitation or good behavior, or for which civil rights are restored pursuant to statute, has the same effect for the purposes of authorizing or imposing collateral consequences in this State as it has in the jurisdiction of conviction. However, such relief or restoration of civil rights does not relieve collateral consequences applicable under the law of this State for which relief could not be granted under subsection 3 of section 19 of this act or for which relief was expressly withheld by the court order or by the law of the jurisdiction that relieved the conviction.

6. A charge or prosecution in any jurisdiction which has been finally terminated without a conviction and imposition of sentence based on participation in a deferred adjudication or diversion program may not serve as the basis for authorizing or imposing a collateral consequence in this State. This subsection does not affect the validity of any restriction or condition imposed by law as part of participation in the deferred adjudication or diversion program, before or after the termination of the charge or prosecution.

Sec. 19. 1. At or before sentencing, an individual convicted of an offense may petition the sentencing court for an order of limited relief from one or more collateral sanctions related to employment, education, housing, public benefits or occupational licensing.

- 2. Except as otherwise provided in subsection 3, at the time the court sentences an individual convicted of an offense, the court may issue an order of limited relief relieving one or more of the collateral sanctions described in subsection 1 if, after reviewing the petition, the individual's criminal history, any view expressed by a victim pursuant to subsection 3 of NRS 176.015 or a prosecutor and any other relevant evidence, it finds the individual has established by a preponderance of the evidence that:
- (a) Granting the petition will materially assist the individual in obtaining or maintaining employment, education, housing, public benefits or occupational licensing;
  - (b) The individual has substantial need for the relief requested in order to live a law-abiding life; and
- (c) Granting the petition would not pose an unreasonable risk to the safety or welfare of the public or any individual.
- 40 3. An order of limited relief may not be issued to relieve the 41 following collateral sanctions:
  - (a) Requirements imposed by chapter 179D of NRS;
- 43 (b) A motor vehicle license or driving privilege suspension, 44 revocation, limitation or ineligibility pursuant to NRS 62E.640 or

483.460, for which restoration or relief is available pursuant to NRS 483.490; or

- (c) Ineligibility for employment pursuant to NRS 248.005, 258.005 or 289.555.
  - 4. The order of limited relief must specify:
  - (a) The collateral sanction from which relief is granted; and
  - (b) Any restriction imposed pursuant to subsection 5.
- 5. The court may issue an order or certificate subject to 9 restriction, condition or additional requirement.
  - 6. An order of limited relief relieves a collateral sanction to the extent provided in the order.
  - 7. If a collateral sanction has been relieved pursuant to this section, a decision maker may consider the conduct underlying a conviction as provided in section 17 of this act.
  - 8. If the office of the prosecutor who obtained the conviction believes that there is just cause for restricting or revoking an order of limited relief, that office may seek the restriction or revocation of the order by filing a motion in the court which granted the order. After notice to the individual to whom the order of limited relief was issued and a hearing, the court may restrict or revoke the order of limited relief if it finds just cause by a preponderance of the evidence. Just cause includes, without limitation, subsequent conviction of a felony in this State or of an offense in another jurisdiction that is deemed a felony in this State under subsection 1 of section 18 of this act.
  - 9. The court shall order any test, report, investigation or disclosure by the individual it reasonably believes necessary to its decision to issue, modify or revoke an order of limited relief. If there are material disputed issues of fact or law, the individual and the prosecutor may submit evidence and be heard on those issues.
  - 10. If a court issues, modifies or revokes an order of limited relief pursuant to this section:
  - (a) The court must notify the Central Repository for Nevada Records of Criminal History of the issuance, modification or revocation of the order; and
  - (b) The Central Repository must include the issuance, modification or revocation of the order in the record of criminal history of the individual to whom the issuance, modification or revocation relates.
  - Sec. 20. In a judicial or administrative proceeding alleging negligence or other fault, an order of limited relief may be introduced as evidence of a person's due care in hiring, retaining, licensing, leasing to, admitting to a school or program, or otherwise transacting business or engaging in activity with the individual to whom the order was issued, if the person knew of the
