ITC Law

International, Transnational & Comparative Law
at the William S. Boyd School of Law at UNLV

OVERVIEW

The William S. Boyd School of Law at UNLV, which commenced classes in August 1998, is the only law school in the state of Nevada. It is fully accredited by the American Bar Association and a member of the American Association of Law Schools, accomplishments it achieved in record time.

The William S. Boyd School of Law at UNLV brings together legal scholars and educators, students, and other members of the global community to address issues in international, transnational, and comparative law.

FACULTY

Numerous full-time faculty members have international, transnational, or comparative law issues among their primary areas of interest. Moreover, many other full-time faculty members address aspects of international or comparative law in their teaching or scholarship or both. The faculty has collectively authored more than 150 publications in the areas of international, transnational, and comparative law.

In their scholarship and teaching, ITC Law faculty members focus on a variety of international, transnational, and comparative law issues in:

- Business Law
- Civil Rights Law
- Commercial Law
- Conflict Resolution
- Conflicts of Law
- Constitutional Law
- Contract Law
- Criminal Law
- Emigration, Immigration & Migration

CURRICULUM

The William S. Boyd School of Law at UNLV offers a growing selection of ITC Law courses, as well as other courses and clinics that incorporate international, transnational, and comparative perspectives.

SPEAKERS & EVENTS

International, transnational, and comparative perspectives are increasingly central to the concerns of the many members of the global community who visit the law school from across the United States and around the world to attend and participate in conferences, symposia, workshops, colloquia, and other academic events. This includes academic enrichment speakers, Saltman Center for Conflict Resolution lecturers, workshop participants, and speakers invited by various student groups.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The William S. Boyd School of Law at UNLV supports and trains a Philip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Team and has placed students in international externships. Student organizations such as the International Law Society offer students additional opportunities to become involved in international issues.
