Will Moschella is a shareholder in the DC office of Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck where he counsels clients on a range of matters, including antitrust, financial services, legal reform, intellectual property and criminal law.

As a Senior Justice Department official and Congressional Staff Counsel, he was involved in numerous high profile legislative efforts, including the enactment of the Patriot Act. He brings that experience to bear on behalf of his clients with complex legal, policy and political problems.

On behalf of his clients, Will has testified in front of the House Judiciary Committee and acted as the spokesperson for an association whose members were the subject of an investigative report by a major television news network. During Will's prestigious career, he has worked closely with business coalitions to create solutions for overcoming legislative gridlock. Before joining Brownstein, Will served at the U.S. Department of Justice as the Principal Associate Deputy Attorney General; Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legislative Affairs; and Chief Legislative Counsel and Parliamentarian, House Committee on the Judiciary. Will attended George Mason University School of Law and the University of Virginia. Will received the Edmund J. Randolph Award for Outstanding Service, highest award that can be bestowed on a Justice Department official.
